Five of our State legislatures have moved for the introduction of the metric system by Congress; New Hampshire in 1859, Maine in 1860, Connecticut in 1861, Massachusetts in 1876, and Utah in 1896. Massachusetts, Connecticut and New Jersey have required it to be taught in the primary schools. As regards progress of the metric system by private initiative, there is practically nothing to record, except in the field of pure science, where the metric system had driven out all others long before the governmental action of the different countries. But in practical life, and in applied science, technology, etc. , the metric system has never made any progress. It was adopted in 1868 by the American Watch Company of Waltham, Mass. , in the manufacture of watches; as it had been adopted years before, as...
