Not illustrated. 1907 Excerpt: .or bloom, invariably absent from goods dyed with synthetic indigo; for the natural indigo not only gave a richer shade, with the characteristic bloom , but also actually a darker shade. The difference between the natural and the synthetic material, which is hardly apparent in dyeing trials made on the small scale, appears to become of considerable importance under conditions such as occur in actual practice. i Manufacture of Paper from Rice Straw. The Board of Trade Journal for May 23 last, refers to a movement that is on foot in Texas, to manufacture paper from rice straw. Difficulty is being found in obtaining a sufficient supply of timber, suitable for the manufacture of pulp, with the result that the price of wood pulp, which was formerly from $40 to $50 a ton, has doubled during the past few years. Experiments have been made to test the suitability of straw for the manufacture of pulp, and success is stated to have attended these efforts. A company possessing a capital of several million dollars is intending to put on the market the machinery and process to convert the rice straw of the Louisiana Texas rice belt into as fine pulp for paper making as that now produced from pulp timber. It is calculated that 2 tons of rice straw will produce a ton of pulp, of value $40. The production of rice straw in Louisiana and Texas during 1900 is estimated at from 670,000 to 1,000,000 tons. Jamaica Bananas....
